Jazz Concert, Dancing Girls To Be Featured At Mardi Gras Rally May 7

Dancing girls, the Mu Phi band, and Virgil Gonsalves and his sextet will be the highlights featured at the Pacific Mardi Gras kick-off rally to be held May 7, Monday night, 8:15 in the conservatory.

The Mu Phi band with the aid of twelve dancing girls, will open the show with "Come to the Mardi Gras," music arranged by Phil Hardyman. During the rally, the Mardi Gras queen and ugly man candidates will be presented.

Climax of the show will come with a forty-minute jazz concert by Virgil Gonsalves and his sextet, currently playing at the Black Hawk in San Francisco. Gonsalves and his group are members of the Rudy Salvini band which will play for the Mardi Gras ball Saturday night. The sextet has played for many other college groups and will be playing a concert in Colorado this Friday night.

Chairmen for the Mardi Gras rally are Vince Gomez and Ces Ciatti. Says Vince, "Come one, come all to the Mardi Gras kick-off rally. It's really going to be the greatest."

Thursday, May 10, at the 7:30 p.m. rally, the winners of the queen and ugly man elections will be presented to the student body. Entertainment will be furnished by the Phi Mu band and Lois LaBonte.

MARDI GRAS BALL MAY 12

Come one, come all, to Mardi Gras Ball on May 12, from 9 to 1 at the Civic Auditorium. The theme of the ball is Bohemian Holiday. It is a costume dance so be thinking about and preparing your costumes. Music will be furnished by Rudy Salvini and his band from San Francisco.

The decorative setting for the dance will be Greenwich Village, with sidewalk cafes and a Bohemian atmosphere. South Hall is in charge of decorating the main floor. West Hall is in charge of the stage and entrance, with Zeta Phi in charge of the centerpiece. North Hall and Alpha Kappa Lambda will lend the strong arms for the decorations.

The general committee heads for this combination committee are Dot Addington and Anne Talbot from South Hall; Helen Hemphill and Jean Lewis, West Hall; Sally Gannon, Zeta Phi; Emil Dattola, North Hall; and Glen Salbach, Alpha Kappa Lambda.

Adv. Regis. May 15-22

Sophomores applying for junior standing must complete their applications before advance registration, May 15-22.

Registration regulations state that students expecting to meet the requirements for junior standing will not be counseled in advance "as a junior" until notification from the administration that their applications have been accepted.

The rule is made necessary by the fact that students entering upper class standing must change from a general to a major adviser.

No Exams To Be Given Early

Students are not to be allowed early final examinations, Dean Edward Betz pointed out this week in clarifying a "general misunderstanding" of final exam policy.

He said that the policy, recognized by the administration and faculty, will not accept excuses merely to "fit the convenience of students." He conceded that "special" cases will be considered, but added that ordinary summer employment, vacation trips, and similar plans are not in this category.

Such action, he declared, is needless and upsets the stability of the scholastic program.

Musical Closes Sat., May 5

"One Thing After Another," concludes its two week run tomorrow night, May 5, with a performance for Parents Day. Curtain will go up at 8:30 to an estimated full house.

Climaxing the theater season at Pacific, this musical was written for Pacific by the creators of the Straw Hat Review, Berryhill and Connell.

Twenty sketches go to make up the show, with the accent on music, comedy, and production. The director is DeMarcus Brown; Bill Strom the technical director; Wayne Morrill, music; and Betty Hackett, choreography.

MARDI GRAS WEEK FETE CLIMAXES SOCIAL YEAR

Mardi Gras, the climax of Pacific's social year, is once again on hand. The week's highlights will include rallies, Faculty Frolics, a powderpuff football game, election of a queen and ugly man, street carnival, and costume ball.

Starting off the festivities will be the Presentation Rally Monday night at 8:15. Following that is the election of Mardi Gras Queen and the Ugly Man. Running for queen are: Micky Babb, West Hall; Lydia Anichkov, Epsilon; Virginia Lake, Zeta Phi; Jan Black, Alpha Theta Tau; Renee Lamaire, Tau Kappa Kappa; and Jean Slayton, South Hall. For ugly man the candidates are: Don Beebe, Epsilon; Gene Cronin, Zeta Phi; Ed Eastberg, Alpha Theta; Vince Gomez, South Hall; Tony Ortega, West Hall; Ron Smith, Tau Kappa.

The voting will be held from 9 until 4 on Wednesday, May 9. The poles will be located in front of the administration building and in the PSA office.

On Thursday, the faculty will present their Faculty Frolic show at 11 a.m. in the conservatory. Thursday evening at 7:30 the queen's Crowning Rally and presentation of Ugly Man will be held in the conservatory.

FRIDAY

Friday, May 11, at 3:30 the powderpuff football game between the halls and the sororities will be played on the field across from the North Hall.

Friday evening at 7:30 the Mardi Gras street carnival will begin.

Mardi Gras will come to a close with the costume ball, May 12. This year's theme is "Bohemian Holiday."

Jan Richards, general chairman for Mardi Gras, and her committees have worked very hard to make this Mardi Gras the biggest and most memorable yet.

Other committee chairmen who deserve mention for the work are: ugly man contest, Dottie

PARENTS TO BE ENTERTAINED AT FIFTH ANNUAL PACIFIC PARENTS DAY, 350 EXPECTED

Reservations for tomorrow's Parents Day have been flowing in fast this week from parents of present and prospective COP students. At least 350 parents are expected to attend the May 5 and 6 events at a very "conservative estimate", said Miss Ellen Deering, chairman for the day.

Not only parents of enrolled students but also of students whose applications have been accepted are attending in large numbers. On Monday 184 advance registration cards had already been returned for luncheon reservations and Pacific Theatre tickets. Parents without reserved tickets must get them by 5 p.m. the evening of the performance. No tickets will be sold at the door.

Miss Deering emphasized that students are invited to accompany their parents on the planned program and participate in the activities. On the guided tours in the morning, the new pharmacy school will be an addition to the program, and a display relating to the history of pharmacy has been set up in room 302 administration building. Department demonstrations in the afternoon should be of special interest to students and parents, said Miss Deering.

The schedule for the days are as follows:

MU PHI NEWS

Mu Phi Epsilon, honorary women's music society, held a joint pot-luck supper with the Stockton alumnae of the sorority on Wednesday, May 2 at the home of Mrs. Jody Lanselle.

The sorority has announced that they have five pledges this semester. The pledges are Mary Ann Harvey, Sharon Eggerts, Gloria Sangalang, Margaret Smith, and Elaine Howse.

PLEDGES BECOME
NEW FRAT MEMBERS

On Sunday, April 29, the Archania and Omega Phi pledges were formally initiated into their respective fraternities. The initiation was held in Morris Chapel. Each of the fraternities now have twelve new brothers. Doug Campbell, Ed Christenson, Walt Culbertson, Dick Crane, Jon Colton, George Fasel, Phil Hunter, Don Osborn, Bill McGregor, Martin Page, Tony Ortega, and Ray Louie were initiated into Archania. Omega Phi welcomed Ken Flaig, Sid Smith, Mat Russell, Bill Slaus, Mich Yammamoto, Bob Nichols, Art Mesistrano, Don Landeck, Chuck Merrill, Bob Sartwell, Russ Hoopes, and Al Farnum.

YOUTH GROUP

This Sunday, the First Presbyterian College Youth group will have as its speaker at their 5:30 p.m. meeting, a member of Alcoholics Anonymous. Cars will leave South Hall at 5:15.

SORORITIES HONOR
PLEDGES AT FORMAL

The Pan Hellenic formal, Casino Cotillon, will be held tonight, May 4, from 9 to 1 at the Stockton Ball Room. The band of Ted Herman will provide music for dancing. The pledge classes of Epsilon Lambda Sigma, Tau Kappa Kappa, and Alpha Theta Tau will be presented during the evening.

Committees for the dance are: Alpha Theta Tau, refreshments, chaperones, and band; Tau Kappa Kappa, decorations and clean up; and Epsilon, bids. There will be extended hours for those attending the dance.

Art Department
Set For Parents

Pacific's art department is preparing, as are many other departments, for Parents Day tomorrow. The art building will be open from 3 to 5 for any parents and students who wish to visit the various exhibits that will be on display.

These exhibits, all done by art students, will include watercolor and oil paintings, photographs, three dimensional design problems, jewelry, clay models, and construction drawing plates.

SORORITIES HOST
CHICO PAN-HEL

On Saturday, April 21, College of the Pacific sororities were hostess to the Chico State sororities for the Pan-Hellenic Inter-collegiate Day.

The calendar of events was initiated with registration and a general assembly at which Barbara Weber, Pan-Hellenic president, served as master of ceremonies. A panel discussion on "The Values of Sororities in College Life" followed the assembly. Panel members included Miss Lorraine Knoles, Mrs. Lawrence Osborne, Mrs. Garrigan and Dean Catherine Davis.

After the panels came discussion groups on Pan-Hellenic relationships, chapter administration, pledge guidance, and public relations. The Chico girls were shown through the Pacific sororities, and the day was climaxed by a luncheon and entertainment.

Peterson-Burcham
Engagement

A blue satin heart covered with daisies was passed around at West Hall's special housemeeting Monday night, and Sandy Peterson removed the ring, attached to the heart by a ribbon, to announce her engagement to Ken Burcham. Preceding the passing of the heart, Sugie Lyddy read a poem and Charmaine Thompson sang three songs, accompanied on the piano by Pat Mondon.

Sandy is a freshman majoring in education. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Peterson of Tulare.

Ken is the son of Mrs. Helen Burcham of Tulare. He attended the College of the Sequoias, in Visalia, and is now employed by the Southern California Edison Company in Tulare.

Sandy and Ken plan to be married in June, 1957.

WRA ELECTION RESULTS

The Women's Recreation Association has completed their 1956 elections and the results are as follows: president, Barbara Turner; vice-president, Micky Babb; recording secretary, Ann Nelson; corresponding secretary, Jan Robertson; treasurer, Pat Mondon; sports manager, Alice Burbank; historian, Barbara Politt. These girls will officially take office in September.

Six finalists will be selected by the Wurlitzer Music Workshop from all the entries. Some of the biggest names in jazz today will judge the six finalists to determine, by majority vote, a winner. The judges include Duke Ellington, Dave Brubeck, Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey, Ralph Flanagan and Don Elliott.

All entries will be judged on instrument execution, performance, musical knowledge and arrangements.

Applications and covering material have been sent to the PSA president. Professional college jazz groups of six or less instrumentalists may enter. There is no limit to entries from any one college.

A tape recording of two or three jazz selections by each group entering the contest must be sent to the judges in care of the Wurlitzer Music Workshop, 522 Fifth Avenue, New York 36, no later than midnight Saturday, May 12, 1956, at which time the contest will close.

The winning group will appear on the Steve Allen "Tonight" TV Show on Friday, May 25th, and will be presented with the Wurlitzer Electronic Piano to be placed with the music department of the college which they represent.

BLOCK P SHOW A SUCCESS SANDI ROBINSON IS QUEEN

By DICK CUMMINGS

Last Wednesday Block P had its annual boxing show and, as usual, it was very good with many fast and exciting fights.

The first bout of the evening had Ted Scarborough and Ben Companus matched and a very good match it was. Scarborough's longer reach and greater experience was the deciding factor and he outpointed the slower, solid punching Companus for the decision.

The trophy was awarded to Ted Scarborough by pretty Barbara Amirkhan of Zeta Phi.

Bob Sartwell won the second fight from Ken Uselton on a split decision. The fight started at a very fast pace, too fast to maintain, as both fighters soon found out. In the second round both fighters had slowed down considerably, but by the third round they had both gained their second wind and the third round was very fast and very rough. So fast, in fact, that Uselton lost a glove.

Sandy Robinson, cute little freshman from West Hall, presented the trophy to Sartwell.

The third fight was, perhaps, the most poorly matched fight of the evening. Dick Easterbrook was much more experienced (or so it seemed to us) of the two. Russ Hoops had a very unusual defense which was effective as long as he stayed in his crouch. Unfortunately he couldn't throw a punch from that position, and every time he straightened up to swing Easterbrook would hit him. Hoops was game but Easterbrook was much too efficient for him as he punched out a unanimous decision.

Elvira Borges, TK's charming brunette queen candidate, presented the winner's trophy to Easterbrook.

During the intermission Mitch Yamamoto and Ben Cahill put on a judo exhibition which left most of the spectators gasping and very impressed with the efficiency of judo as a weapon. It was obvious that these boys are both quite skilled at this sport as they threw each other around the ring without doing any physical damage. This writer came away from the show impressed with the fact that Cahill and Yamamoto are two boys with whom to stay on friendly terms.

The fourth bout of the evening was billed as a grudge fight and it, at times, resembled one. Frank Lowry appeared to have a little more experience but Joe Sisson had a good defense and the fight was pretty even until the middle of the second round when Lowry connected with several hard rights. During the third round it was Lowry all the way and he won a rather decisive victory on points.

Margaret Nicklaus, South Hall's pretty queen candidate, awarded the trophy to Lowry and in turn was awarded with a big kiss in the best Rhizite fashion.

The next event on the program was a humorous tag team wrestling match between the "goodies", Roland Rutter and Don Gwaltney, and the "baddies", Mr. X (Bob Denton) and Bomber (Art Mesistrano). The match was refereed by Jerry Fairley and several times he became physically involved with the wrestling, once almost getting pinned for the count of three. These boys could hold their own on any TV wrestling show (attention channel 13) because they not only were funny, they also knew how to wrestle (I think).

Alpha Theta Tau sent their attractive candidate, Tudy Hagestrom, to the ring to award the trophies to the "good guys." These trophies were then stolen by the bad guys and the last the audience saw of the wrestlers they were running at full speed out the side door.

The main event of the evening was the bout between Dick Bass and Lee Allerdice. These boys were both extremely fast and in very good condition. Allerdice appeared to have a little more experience. Dick Bass's reflexes and coordination saved him several times. The split decision was given to Lee Allerdice by a ½-point margin but I'm sure no one in the audience would have objected if the decision would have been a draw. It was really close.

The six queen candidates were then lined up and the winner was announced. She was Sandy Robinson of West Hall. She was presented with an inscribed silver bracelet and a diary to remember the occasion, and crowned queen of the "Block P" boxing show.

Between the fourth and fifth bouts of the evening a popularity contest for the boxers was held, the winner to be judged by the amount of applause he received. The winner, Bob Sartwell, received a handsome prize of a $10 merchandise order from Moradian's Clothiers.

So ended the annual edition of the Black P boxing show. Now you can all look forward to the one next year.

INTRAMURAL

Dr. Voltmer's intramural sports program has seven sports on tap for the remainder of the school year; archery, golf, handball, horseshoes, swimming, tennis, and softball.

The purpose of Voltmer's program is to "provide competitive sports for everyone; especially those who are either physically unable to compete on the varsity teams, or have not the time for them. Everyone is eligible."

Three trophies are awarded annually to the person winning the most points throughout the whole year. Last year's big trophy winner, Frank Baldwin, is top favorite for this year's crown. The Merced whiz is presently favored to shoot the straightest arrows in the archery contest.

Defending champion Jack Meeks, Gordon Gillin, Artie Mesistrano, and Floyd Weaver are the surviving finalists in the handball consolation tournament. The spring surprise has been Mesistrano. The Brooklyn blubber boy

Tigers Welcome 42 At Spring Grid Drills

Last Tuesday football made its annual spring visit to the College of the Pacific campus, as the Tigers gridgers opened their 20 days of workouts.

Coach Jack Myers and his assistants will use the workouts to experiment and shift a bit, and to figure out what is available in the way of talent for the 10 game slate which opens here September 22nd, against Colorado A&M.

Some 42 athletes reported for the drills which are being held Tuesday through Saturdays for the four-week period. The squad will receive Sundays and Mondays off each week for rest and recuperation. Other Spring sports have completed their schedules, so that all of the athletes will be available for the spring drills.

Myers is faced with the task of replacing 8 starters from last year's five four record team. To do this he is counting on 8 lettermen, 7 non-letter men returnees, and a host of junior college transfers, and players from the undefeated frosh team last season.

TOP NEWCOMERS

Six of the new comers are tabbed as good bets to make the first twenty-two men next year. Ends Ed Sowash, and Bob Sartwell, and tackle Adrien Vera from the frosh, center Roland Rutter from El Camino JC, Quarterback Tom Flores from Fresno JC and fullback Ken Uselton from Santa Rosa JC.

In addition, end Bob Denton, tackle Art Mesistrano, and fullback Chuck Haggard from Stockton College are conceded good chances to make the first two teams, but have not been able to take part in spring practice since they are freshman transfers. Halfback Dick Bass from the frosh, who scored ten td's in 3 games last season, misses the drills also because of a scholastic deficiency last semester which he is now making up.

The switching to end of Farrell Funston, last year's fullback who was hampered during the first four weeks of practice by a pulled muscle will be closely watched this spring. Likewise the success of post season operations on such veterans as quarterback Del Whitter, and guards Galen Laack and Ben Parks will be tested.

uses his extra pounds to a psychological advantage, as no one expects him to even last the game. However, chubby Art bounces around the court amazingly, and may go all the way.

Meeks got into the finals by out-stretching John Nisby and winning by forfeit from Don Gwaltney; Gillin swept past Bob Denton and got Roland Rutter on forfeit; Weaver blasted Jack Larscheid; and plump Artie drew convincing byes.

Many of the future tournaments still have room for more signatures. Sign-up is in the Athletic Office.

SWIMMERS WIN FINAL MEET TAYLOR LEADS THE SCORING

The College of the Pacific swim team closed out its season last week with a win over the Fresno State splashers by a 49-35 margin of victory. This gives them a four win, four loss record for the season. High point men for the Tiger team were Taylor in the distance events, getting two firsts for 10 points while his erstwhile teammate Bob Gaughran also rallied 10 points via two firsts in the sprints. These boys have both been the backbone of the Bengals all season.

The season now over and the last meet complete, it also means the last intercollegiate swimming competition for many of these boys. Bob Taylor, Bob Hardman, Bruce Shore, and Ron Smith all graduating seniors will all be missed next year when the boys take to the pool again.

Coach Kjeldsen has been heard saying that he has a good basis for next year in the boys remaining, but could certainly use some help in the way of top swimmers and divers, who could use some help via scholarships. Bob De Martin, a good freshman diving prospect, also doesn't expect to attend COP come next fall; this certainly doesn't do the team any good.

The team as a whole scored 286 points for the season, as compared with its opponents 385 total tallies. Following is an individual rundown on scoring.

Moreau	Jr	44

The column this week is delegated to inform you of the candidates that are running for Sophomore Representative.

CANDIDATES

Blonde, blue-eyed Nancie Achilles from Menlo Park is the first candidate for Representative. Nancie was active in her high school, which is exemplified by her work on the newspaper, and was a member of various school boards. At Pacific, Nancie is a member of South Hall's council and pledge president of Alpha Theta Tau.

When I interviewed Nancie about her aims for next year, she had this to say: "I would like to see the class work as a group with unity and spirit. I will do my utmost to see the class stay together, regardless of being members of different living groups, and see the desires of the sophomore class brought to the attention of the administration and PSA."

The next candidate is Beth Adamson, who is from Los Altos. Beth was active in high school activities, such as being her high school's correspondent with a city newspaper, and working on committees. She is now Society Editor on the Pacific Weekly staff, and has been a member of many committees here, including Band Frolic and Homecoming committees.

When interviewed, Beth said, "I think that there should be more unity and spirit in our class next year, than there has been this year. I believe that one way to achieve this would be to have more class activities. If elected, I shall do my best to represent the sophomore class and act upon its wishes and needs."

Last, but not least, Bill Sloss, from Santa Rosa, is campaigning for Representative. Bill was rally commissioner at his high school, as well as on the school track team. At Pacific, Bill has continued his rally work, having participated in two exchange rallies. He is pledge class secretary-treasurer at Omega Phi Alpha.

Bill's message to the students is this, "I expect to represent the class as a whole, and let you know of any current developments that would be of importance or interest to you."

Dean J. Russel Bodley presents Professor Allen Bacon with a wrist watch on his retirement after 34 years of teaching.

ALLEN BACON RETIRES WITH 34 YEARS SERVICE

Allen W. Bacon, College of the Pacific professor of piano and organ, said this week that he "wouldn't trade jobs with any other man in the world."

That this statement stems from a firmly entrenched conviction is testified by 34 years of teaching at COP. And now, at 70, he is retiring.

A reception in his honor last week was attended by over 200 of his friends and associates. A surprise for the guest of honor was the appearance of many of his former students, who attended by invitation from regions throughout California. According to Mrs. Bacon, who also attended the reception, her husband was "quite overwhelmed" by the surprise turnout, among whose numbers were students of 25 years past.

The conservatory staff, represented by Dean J. Russell Bodley, presented him a wristwatch, and members of the American Guild of Organists gave him a desk lamp.

Bacon is one of the few present COP professors who began teaching on the old campus site in San Jose. He spent two years there and then moved with the school to Stockton in 1924.

His early education was received at St. Louis High School, Mo., and later as a student under Victor Ehling and Charles Galloway from 1900-10, and Rudolph Ganz in 1921. At COP, he earned his Bachelor of Music degree in 1930, and his Masters in 1934.

He is past president and charter member of Stockton Table,

Knights of the Round Table, and is associated with Phi Mu Alpha, Pi Kappa Lambda, and the American Guild of Organists.

After that, declared Bacon, he will "catch up with some things I haven't been able to do lately." On his neglected list are reading, writing (clerical work and pieces for music publications), traveling, and hiking "in the high Sierra country."

A good proportion of time will be spent in traveling, said the retiring professor, starting with a "see America first tour." Europe is on the schedule for him and his wife in a year or two. World traveling is not a novelty for Bacon; he has taken three continental recital tours in 1932, '36, and '39.

He has spent considerable time during his career writing reviews and articles on musical subjects for national organ journals. His first book, "The True Function of Church Music," was published in 1953. His fifth faculty research lecture, entitled "The Music of the Future," was published in 1955.

Reflecting on his 34-year career at COP, Bacon said he felt he has been "extremely privileged to be able to associate with such a very fine group of colleagues and loyal, congenial friends."
